

GLOBAL COMMITMENT

Hungary is deeply committed to the strengthening of the international system of human rights and particularly of the work and functioning of the Human Rights Council.

Hungary works continuously to build a culture of respect for the promotion and protection of human rights with a balanced approach to the issues on the agenda of the Council.

Hungary promotes a comprehensive approach that provides space for dialogue and cooperation, in order to strengthen the Council's reaction capacity to address violations of human rights and urgent situations without selectivity or double-standards.

NATIONAL CONTRIBUTION

Hungary has been a committed supporter of the Human Rights Council since its establishment and was member to the Human Rights Council between 2009-2012. Hungary presents its second candidature to the HRC for the period 2017-2019.

Hungary is State Party to the International Bill of Human Rights and the preponderant majority of international and European regional human rights conventions as well as to most of their optional or additional protocols. In compliance with its obligations Hungary fully cooperates with the monitoring bodies of these treaties.

Hungary fully cooperates with the Council's special procedures by issuing and honouring a standing invitation to the special procedures, by promptly facilitating their requests to visit, by timely responding to their urgent appeals and other communications and by acting upon their recommendations.

Hungary attaches paramount importance to the Universal Periodic Review, both as reviewed and reviewing State, and strives to ensure that each review is focused on improving the situation of human rights in the country under review. Hungary promotes concrete, measurable and implementable recommendations.

Hungary's Constitution, the Fundamental Law, states that human dignity shall be inviolable and that every human being shall have the right to life and human dignity. A range of cardinal acts and other pieces of legislation are ensuring fundamental rights and freedoms for all, including minorities and persons belonging to vulnerable groups.

The Office of the Commissioner for Fundamental Rights (OCFR) is Hungary's independent "A" status national institute for human rights as required by the Paris Principles. The OCFR monitors the Government's human rights activities.

Hungary promotes the universality of human rights and aims at enhancing cross-regional cooperation.

Hungary is a dedicated partner and supporter of the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights and attaches great importance to its independence and effectiveness on the ground.

Hungary hosts regional representations and Global Shared Services Centres of a number of UN specialized agencies and international humanitarian organizations active in the promotion and protection of human rights, such as UNHCR, ILO, FAO, UNICEF, WHO, IFRC. By providing locations and facilities to these organizations Hungary contributes significantly to their cost-efficient thus more effective functioning.

The Government cultivates close contacts with civil society and engages in active discourse on human rights through the Human Rights Roundtable operated by the interministerial Human Rights Working Group, which also monitors the implementation of the recommendations received by Hungary in the Universal Periodic Review process.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade of Hungary continues to host the annual Budapest Human Rights Forum launched in 2008. These international human rights conferences offer opportunity to exchange views on various domains and aspects of human rights with the participation of national and international human rights experts, representatives of non-governmental and governmental organizations and the academics.

VOLUNTARY PLEDGES

Apply and promote a rights based approach in the implementation of sustainable development goals as contained in the post 2015 development agenda.

With the aim to raise awareness and disseminate knowledge about universal human rights and fundamental freedoms ensure continuation of the annual Budapest Human Rights Forums.

Continue to support Hungary-based international CSOs specialized in the protection and promotion of human rights, democracy and fundamental freedoms.

Contribute to the international initiatives to combat sexual violence in conflicts, particularly against women and girls, and support projects aimed at eliminating all forms of such crimes and elaborate an action plan on eliminating sexual violence against women and girls on the basis of the Parliamentary decree on combatting domestic violence.

Promote human rights training of professionals working with vulnerable groups, in particular children and women in co-operation with specialized associations, CSO-s.

Introduce further measures to combat discrimination in all its forms for the improvement of gender equality and to the promotion of the advancement of women.

Adopt and implement a National Action Plan on the 2011 UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.

Pursue an active role in the Human Rights Council and particularly promoting minority issues, the rights of indigenous peoples, human rights defenders, freedom of religion or belief, independence of judges and lawyers.

Cooperate with the instruments and mechanisms of the Human Rights Council, in particular by upholding standing invitation to the special procedures and working actively on the Universal Periodic Review.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade of Hungary, 2015

HUNGARY
HUMAN RIGHTS COUNCIL
ELECTION 2016